Research News

Clinical Research

Clinical Research Program (NU-PCRP) conducts translational clinical research that sheds light on the neurobiological abnormalities that cause a wide spectrum of mental disorders (i.e. schizophrenia, schizoaffective, bipolar disorder, and other psychiatric disorders) or promote their progression. We currently have 24 active protocols. Our research studies are Observational, Behavioral, and Clinical (Pharmacological) Trials. NU-PCRP has both cross-sectional and longitudinal studies, and comparison groups include healthy individuals and their relatives.

Contact Information:

680 North Lake Shore Drive, suite number 1328. If you want to learn more about our research opportunities and recruitment process, please contact NU-PCRP Clinical Research Managers: Marko Mihailovic, M.A., LPC, CCRC (marko.mihailovic@northwestern.edu) or D.
